"BUSINESS AS USUAL."

Considerable thought probably has been given by every business man in the United States to possible effects to business as a whole and individually to his own, resulting from present conditions, and future conditions, which are the result of the world-wide conflict.

To accept the condition as one which allows business inactivity on the part of each man is to invite and acknowledge disaster. The successful man accepts only the best side of conditions. He is active—we have heard of the "psychological effect." Get busy!

This is not the time to waste; this is the time to make your initiative. Every shot must hit the mark. This is the time when returns must be obtained. The man who does not accept defeat is the man who conducts his business at the present time and through present and coming conditions with an aggressiveness that will bring results and accomplish the purpose for which he is working.

The present war has been called an industrial war. This would indicate that the pressure and demand for efficiency is greater now and will be in the future than in the past. To meet the situation must mean that the utmost energy must be given to all kinds of business.

Prepare to handle your share, as your share will be in proportion to your energy and activity. Let's "Business As Usual."

STUNG AGAIN.

Doubtless that's the expression many merchants of Paris are using who invested their coin on a four by five directory gotten out by a Lexington concern, purporting to be a complete directory of Paris and other places. The alleged directory is mainly an advertisement for Lexington, and the space occupied for Paris and Bourbon county is comparatively insignificant.

The "directory" gives one barber shop; one newspaper; one attorney; one furniture concern; one funeral director (colored); one dentist; one automobile firm; one department store; one printing establishment; one veterinarian; three physicians; one transfer company, and a few other scattering lines of business! And this is a directory for a town of over seven thousand people. There's most anything in a name, it seems, if this little pamphlet can be called a directory.

It seems that Paris people will never learn not to go up against one of these things. Some time ago a representative of one of the largest directory publishing firms in the United States was in Paris, sounding the people on the prospects of getting out a real complete directory of this latest approved kind, for the city. Nothing more has been heard from the firm, but it is probable that the work will be undertaken soon. These people propose to publish a directory complete in every respect. But as long as Paris merchants continue to sink their money in these little fly-by-night concerns, they ought not to complain if they are stung. This "directory" even failed to give the name of Judge E. B. January, Police Judge of Paris, in the list of city officials. Other branches of the city government were also ignored. And that is called a "directory." Perish the thought!

PROF. PROCTOR LOCATES IN MAYSVILLE.

Prof. E. T. Proctor, principal of the Paris High School, is now located in Maysville, as special agent for the Northwestern Life Insurance Co., of which Mr. R. F. Clendenin, of Paris, is District Associate Manager. Under the head of "Welcome To Maysville," the Maysville Bulletin says:

"Mr. E. T. Proctor, special agent of the Northwestern Life Insurance Company, has located here and has offices in the First-Standard Bank building. Mr. Proctor comes from Paris and is a most progressive young business man who expects to write many policies in his company here and hereabouts. He and his estimable wife are most welcome to Maysville."

WOMEN TRAMPERS ON HIKE.

Tanned from exposure to sun and wind, and covered with dust, but proud and happy in their novel experiences, Misses Sarah and Florence Reardon and Mabel Mitchell, of Cincinnati, who are spending their vacations on a tramping tour, hiked into Paris Sunday night, and registered at the Windsor Hotel.

The ladies came to Paris from Lexington, stopping at the historic Bryant's Station spring, made famous in Revolutionary times, and of which they said they had heard so much. They were in fine spirits and seemed to be enjoying their novel trip to the very utmost. They were "traveling light," and when they were not able to make a town in time for refreshments, rustled their own meals, and had a good time generally, regardless of consequences. From the time they left Cincinnati, coming through Central Kentucky, they had not one unpleasant experience, and found that Kentucky hospitality had not suffered any by the laps of time or circumstances. They were often entertained at farmhouses on the way, where every attention was shown them, and started on their way to the next place with a hearty "God bless you, and good luck to you."

The young ladies left yesterday morning for Millersburg, Carlisle, Blue Licks and Maysville. From Maysville they will go down the country bordering on the C. & O., and will stop at all towns en route. They are not advertising anything, have nothing to sell, no schemes of any kind, but just out for a vacation out of the ordinary. To tell the truth the girls look amply to take care of themselves in almost any kind of an emergency.

It won't be long now until those hot days will be here and we can point to her on the street and say: "She is the prettiest thing the sun shines through."

Just now it looks as though the brave boy volunteer has put the sweet girl graduate out of the running.

CONGRESSMAN CANTRILL ADDRESSES RED CROSS MEETING.

Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, of Georgetown, addressed a large audience at the court house, in this city at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, on matters relating to Red Cross work.

The speaker was introduced by Hon. E. M. Dickson of Paris, who presided. Mr. Cantrill delivered one of his characteristic eloquent and forceful addresses, in which he eulogized the Red Cross Society, its National, State and local work and workers, and paid a glowing tribute to the quality of young womanhood enlisted in the work of the local chapter.

There was no music or special demonstration of any kind, save the frequent applause that interrupted the speaker when he made some telling point in the address and especially when he urged the importance of contributing liberally to the Red Cross Chapter.

At the close of the address a free will offering of $300 was added to the amount already raised for Bourbon's contribution to the National Fund.

Although the campaign closed nominally in the city and county on Saturday night, it will really be extended through this week. The ladies of the Chapter will be ready to receive contributions to the fund in any amount. They will prosecute the campaign with the same vigor and energy they displayed last week.

NOTED CARTOONIST GUEST IN PARIS.

Paris has been entertaining a noted cartoonist for several days in the person of Mr. Carl Schultz, of New York, originator of the "Foxy Grandpa" cartoons that caught the risibilities of the American people through the daily papers some years ago.

Mr. Schultz had been visiting friends in the Bluegrass, and came over to Paris for a visit to Mr. W. R. Blakemore, of the firm of Mitchell & Blakemore, who was an old acquaintance.

Mr. Schultz' father, Prof. Schultz, will be remembered as having been a resident of Paris many years ago. He was an accomplished musician, and had large classes of pupils in instrumental music. Mr. Schultz, Sr., was fond of outdoor life and spent some time on the farm of Mr. Thomas Henry Clay, near Stony Point.

A few days ago, Mr. Schultz, who had been accustomed to early rising, went down Pleasant street for an early morning walk, which took him past the handsome home of Mr. Clay. As he passed along the street in front of the home, Mr. Schultz' attention was attracted to an elderly gentleman industriously engaged in mauling the lawn. Thinking him a landscape gardener, Mr. Schultz engaged him in conversation, and incidentally told his name and of his visit here. To his great surprise Mr. Schultz found he had been talking to Mr. Clay, who had been one of his father's warmest old-time friends during his residence here. Explanations followed, and the gentlemen spent several hours exchanging reminiscences of the Paris' of long ago.

THE NEW LABOR BUREAU

In establishing the new Labor Bureau as a part of their campaign the Bourbon County Business Men's League has supplied a "long felt want." The new office has been made a part of the agricultural and labor division of the Board of Directors.

The office has been placed in charge of Mr. John M. Clay, an experienced farmer, who can be found during business hours in the Anderson building, adjoining the newly-erected business house near the Paris Grand Opera House.

As stated before, the purpose of the new bureau is to supply work hands to farmers and in attending to other needs of the farming elements of the county. The farmers are required to notify Mr. Clay when they are through with the services of an employee, in order that he may be secured for another job at once. The office has been fitted up with all the furniture necessary for the work, and telephones have been installed, by which the farmers will be enabled to keep in communication at all times with Mr. Clay.

When in need of laborers call Mr. Clay over either phone 553, and he will give your request prompt and careful attention.

PARIS YOUTH HURT IN AUTO WRECK.

A machine driven by a Cincinnati attorney named Dawson crashed into a car in which Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Bales and their son, Mr. Preston Bales, all of Paris, were riding near Cincinnati, last Friday afternoon. The force of the collision threw the occupants out, but all luckily escaped injury except Mr. Preston Bales, who sustained cuts and bruises on the leg. The Bales machine was considerably damaged and was left in a Cincinnati auto hospital for repairs, while the party returned to Paris via train.

This is a very appropriate time to call yourself to one side or even down in an alley and quietly say to yourself: "How can I do my bit?"

TRIBUTE TO BOURBON BRIDE.

Saturday's Courier-Journal publishes a half-tone of Mrs. Richard Herndon Waller, formerly Miss Mary Frances Ford, of Georgetown, whose marriage to Mr. Richard Herndon Waller, of the Bourbon County Y. M. C. A., was a society event of this month in her home town, Georgetown. The Courier-Journal accompanies the picture with the following comment:

"Mrs. Richard Herndon Waller, formerly Miss Frances Mary Ford, is the daughter of Mrs. Dewees Williams, of Georgetown. Her husband, who taught in the Paris schools during the recent school term, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Waller, of Hopkinsville. The wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Waller, which took place recently in the Christian church in Georgetown, was one of the most brilliant in the history of Georgetown. The bride is an accomplished vocalist. Her husband was graduated from the Georgetown College."

B-4 FIRE Insure with W.O. HINTON & SON, AGTS

3,000 HOMES BURNED IN FIRE IN JAPAN.

Shut in on all sides by mountains, the city of Yonezawa, one of the most important centers in Japan for weaving silken fabrics, is scarcely more than a pile of ruins as a result of a fire which wiped out nearly two-thirds of the community. Over 3,000 buildings and houses were destroyed.

Fire, wind and lightning insurance.

TOBACCO MEN TO MEET

Tobacco men from all parts of the United States and some from Europe representing governments that have made large purchases in this country since the beginning of the war, will attend a convention in Old Point Comfort, Va., Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 28, 29 and 30.

The conference is being held as the fifteenth annual convention of the Tobacco Association of the United States. Several local men will probably attend.

It is probable that Bourbon county interests will be represented at the meeting by one or more local tobacco men.

NO INCREASE IN RATES.

Several Insurance Companies have raised their rates on account of the war—we haven't. Call on undersigned for further information.

NEW CANDIDATES FOR CITY COUNCILMEN.

In to-day's issue of THE NEWS under the head of announcements will be found the announcements of the following gentlemen as candidates for Councilmen: W. T. Brooks, from the First Ward; J. J. Veatch and S. Kenney Nichols from the Second Ward, and George Doyle from the Third Ward.

All are too well-known to need more than a formal reference through the medium of the press. Dr. Brooks, who has been a member of the Council for two terms, is a prominent druggist; Mr. Nichols is one of the best-known farmers and turfmen in the county, and a good business man, with it; Mr. Veatch, as nearly every one knows, is District Manager of the Central Home Telephone Co., a man of splendid business training; Mr. Doyle is bookkeeper in the employ of the Peoples Deposit Bank, a position he has held for many years, and one in which he has displayed remarkable business attainments.

The affairs of the city would be safe in the hands of any of these candidates, who would not be self-seekers, but would devote their time and talents to giving the city a clean, honest and able administration.

HANCOCK THOROUGHBREDS BRING GOOD PRICES.

At the sale held at the Durland Riding Academy in New York last week of thoroughbreds belonging to Arthur B. Hancock, of Paris, and Senator J. N. Camden, of Versailles, good prices were realized. A good average was maintained, forty-one head selling for $44,725, an average of more than $1,000 per head.

The stars of the sale were a chestnut filly by Celt-Network, offered in the consignment of Mr. Hancock, which was purchased by Mr. P. A. Clark, for $4,330, and a brown colt by Ben Brush—Waldena, sent to the sale by Senator Camden, and which became the property of Thomas Welsh, for $4,000.

The best price for an imported youngster was given for a chestnut filly by the English Derby winner, Sunstar, out of Ascenseur, which was purchased by W. L. Powers as agent, for $3,000.

TROTTER KILLED.

The young trotter, Greenbriar Watts, a son of General Watts and Glycerine, the dam of the famous trotter, Bob Douglas, 2:04 1/4, was struck and killed by lightning recently at the farm of Mr. C. S. Vi-mont, near Millersburg. The horse was owned jointly by Mr. Vi-mont and Gen. C. C. Watts, of Charleston, W. Va.

NEAR-ACCIDENT.

Mrs. M. J. Sweeney, of the county, narrowly escaped serious injury at the corner of Eighth and High streets Sunday afternoon, when her horse took fright at a passing interurban car, and bolted against the pavement.

Mrs. Sweeney was driving to her home, and did not hear the approach of the car until it was almost upon her horse. She hastily jerked the animal out of the way, and in so doing backed him up against the curb with such force that she was thrown out under the wheels of the buggy. She was severely bruised, but luckily escaped serious injury. Bystanders quieted the horse, and took Mrs. Sweeney to her home where she received medical attention.

SHEEP KILLED.

A terrific electrical storm which prevailed in this section last week was the means of causing the loss of nineteen sheep, for Mr. Steele Marsh, on the Ruddles Mills pike, near Paris. The animals had taken refuge from the storm under a tree, which was struck by lightning. The entire nineteen sheep were killed instantly and the tree almost torn to pieces by the lightning bolt.
